FDD Collection of Information on Guided Missiles

Foreign Documents Division screens all obtainable issues of soviet periodicals, newspapers, books and monographs, and similar satellite publications to collect information on, or related to guided missile research, development and utilization in the Sino-Soviet Bloc. At the same time, FDD systematically maintains a continuous watch for information from its sources on all soviet institutes connected with or suspected of work in the field of guided missiles for changes of personnel, organization and functions. The resultant information is published in concise form in the semimonthly FDD "Scientific Information Report" and the weekly report "Soviet Bloc IGY Information." FDD also produces many full translations of relevant articles appearing in the above publications and collects information on availability of pertinent translations produced elsewhere in government or in private industry.
